Subject: My grandfather

Hi, Bill.

I'll write about my grandfather today.

Yesterday was my grandfather's birthday, and I gave him running shoes. He loves running, and he runs in the park every morning.

When I was ten, my family moved to this city. I wanted to make friends, but I was too shy to talk to people I didn't know. One day, my grandfather invited me to run with him. I started running with him. I wasn't good at running, so I stopped many times at first, but after several weeks, I started to enjoy running. I met some children in the park and became friends with them. I'm grateful to my grandfather.

Arisa

(28) What did Arisa do on October 11?

1. She got running shoes from her grandfather.
2. She ran in the park with her friends.
3. She gave her grandfather a present.
4. She moved to this city with her family.

(29) Which of the following statements is true?

1. Bill's grandmother has lived alone for forty years.
2. Bill's grandmother opened her shop after her husband died.
3. Bill's grandmother believes that flowers make people happy.
4. Bill's grandmother will come to Japan next week.

(30) Arisa wants to

1. talk about flowers with Bill's grandmother.
2. take Bill to the famous Japanese garden in her city.
3. see the red leaves in her garden with Bill.
4. take pictures of the flowers that she grows.

Thank you for your e-mail, Arisa.

You like your grandfather very much!

My grandfather died three years ago, and my grandmother has lived alone near my house in the U.S. since then. She has a small flower shop that she opened forty years ago. Many people come to her shop every day. She always talks with them and asks what flowers they want to buy. She loves her job. She believes that flowers make people happy.

Next month, she'll come to Japan. She's looking forward to seeing Japanese gardens.

Hi Bill,

I was glad to read your e-mail. Your grandmother sounds amazing.

When and how long will she stay in Japan? I want to meet her. I'm interested in growing flowers these days, so I want to talk with her.

By the way, if your grandmother wants to go to a Japanese garden, she should visit "Sansui-en." It's a famous Japanese garden in this city. The leaves on the trees there turn red in November. They're so beautiful! I hope you enjoy taking pictures of them.
